Care and support when you need it most

Sharing with each other

The Southwest Ohio Brain Tumor Support Group was founded in 1994 by a young woman with a brain tumor and is sponsored by the Wallace-Kettering Neuroscience Institute. The group encourages patients, family members and friends to gather and share their experiences and emotions about coping with the disease and its effects. Meetings are led by an experienced professional and provide an opportunity to learn about treatment, research and recovery. Occasionally, a guest speaker is featured.
